

In this day and age, it is hard to believe that passing HB 5285 would be necessary, but I fear that it is. For some reason there is a faction of Americans who don't want to believe science and they seem to be getting more power hungry in terms of threatening school boards. It is essential that the children of CT know basic facts about our planet and how it got this way. I think we can only be assured of that if it is written into law.

Elizabeth Coffey